DOMAIN RESERVE

It is established among the PARTIES, a reservation agreement of domain of the Equipment in favor of the SELLER, which will persist until the total settlement of the full value of this instrument by the BUYER.

By virtue of the domain reserve agreement hereby established, the BUYER will be constituted as the sole owner of the Equipment, acknowledging that these will remain the exclusive property of the SELLER until the total settlement of the value.

The BUYER may freely use the Equipment, but in a manner compatible with their respective purposes, the removal of the place where they are installed is prohibited. THE BUYER acknowledges that it will not be able to lend, sell, assign, or otherwise dispose of the Equipment, for any title, until it has been transferred to them by full liquidation.

Payment of the price in the form contracted, the reservation of domain will be considered automatically extinct, consolidating the definitive ownership of the Equipment in favor of the BUYER.

It is hereby established that, until full payment of the Price, the BUYER undertakes to;

(I) keep the Equipment a perfect state of use and conservation, free and unencumbered of any liens, charges or encumbrances, protecting them against any disturbance of third parties, and must take all necessary measures for this purpose; and

(II) permit, upon prior scheduling, inspection of the Equipment by an accredited representative of the SELLER.
